

New Jersey's Do Not Call law is one of our nation's best. The citizens of New Jersey welcome and enjoy the benefits of such legislation and find it difficult to understand why there is concern by the Federal authorities. If anything the Federal government should be looking at revising the Federal law to conform to New Jersey's provisions. The ability to enjoy one's home without harassment from telemarketers is a fundamental right that should not be infringed upon.